The Southern District Newsletter September and October 2018

Words from your editor

I hope you've enjoyed your summer. This latest edition of southern news should have reached you before our district outing on 15th September so I'll look forward to spending the day with some of you.

If you are interested in developing your ringing, whether that is with handling, confidence or method ringing, we would love to hear from you with any particular requests or ideas you might have. My email is news-south@scacr.org. Your views will help us plan events to benefit our district ringers.

In the meantime, do come along to our October practice at Shoreham (tbc). Ringing will be rounds onwards. May I encourage those who have never been to a district practice before, to come along to this one. District practices aim to provide opportunities to ring on bells other than the familiar ones at your home tower, and to ring methods with plenty of additional support. As requested, this practice will also cater for those who wish to ring methods such as Middlesex and Single Oxford Bob Triples. Good alternatives to Plain Bob and Grandsire.

Enjoy your ringing!
Josh

Words from Mary – Your district secretary

I am writing this from Winchester where I was lucky enough to ring at the Cathedral about five years ago. The Seaford ringers were walking the South Downs way and had the opportunity to ring at Winchester cathedral before the start. Looking back I am amazed that I had the courage to do it as I was very much a beginner ringer, but I did and it will always be a special memory for me.

Life has been a bit less hectic recently so along with Penny and Richard Neal I have resumed my challenge to visit the practice nights of all Southern District towers. We have been to Newick and Chailey recently and received a warm welcome and enjoyable ringing from both.

It was lovely to have put on a successful doubles course at Southover in August. 5 students benefited from some expert tuition and progressed all afternoon, learning new methods and gaining confidence. (See more inside)

I have also spent a bit of time helping to teach some new ringers who are beginning to learn to handle a bell. Occasionally it has been a bit scary but it's also felt really rewarding to try and help others learn, watch their successes, and pay back a bit for all the help that I have received over the years.

We have a walking/ringing outing to Eastbourne on Saturday 15th September. Please join us. Details are on the website.

August Event – Doubles Training Afternoon at Southover (Lewes)

On Saturday the 18th of August we met at Southover church for an afternoon of training under the guidance of Richard Neal. As always I was very apprehensive before the start but soon felt better once we all had introduced ourselves and started ringing.

It was nice to meet with other course members I had not met before. We rang Reverse Canterbury Pleasure Bob Doubles and St Simon's Doubles.

We all started with a plain course and later in the afternoon were given the opportunity to ring a touch. It was really good to have the opportunity to ring the same method repeatedly surrounded by expert ringers. Also when not ringing to be able to stand with a helper and watch. The tea break was very welcome and lovely homemade cakes were provided by Mary Burr I feel it was an excellent afternoon and a very big thank you to Richard and everyone who gave of their time to help us learners be better ringers.

Sussex Young Ringers News

Sussex wins the Ringing World National Youth Contest!

Congratulations to Sussex Young ringers who won the RWNYC in July. Five members of the team are based in the southern district and did us all proud. Here is an extract from the article written in the Ringing World by team Sussex.

Molly (southern district ringer) writes on ringing at Cubitt Town

When we reached the qualifier tower, my nerves were rising, as was the pressure. The teams talks from Captains Sandra and Anne did help, wishing us all the best and making us laugh. It was extremely hot up in the tower, which didn't help us trying to relax. But we pushed through and our practice was brilliant making us much more confident. We rang rounds to ensure our rope length was comfortable, and then rang a few call changes to practise the key changes.

We felt that we rang really well in our test piece, and were happy with our performance. It was great to see our friends from other teams there to support us too; it made it an enjoyable morning. As this was my first RWNYC, I felt that the atmosphere was fun and exciting.

Rachel (southern district ringer) writes on ringing in the final at Garlickhythe

As team Sussex was walking to Garlickhythe, Captain Anne received an exciting email; Sussex achieved great success in their heat and was through to the final. Cheers of happiness and excitement came from all the team members and supporters, however as conductor of the team, I felt the pressure rising and I remember thinking... this could be Sussex's year, we have the potential to win, and we have just got to deliver it. The glorious sound of the Jubilee bells blared out with confidence as Sussex arrived to listen to their competitors. With lunch in one hand and a cold bottle of drink in the other, we all sat in a circle underneath the scorching sun, cautiously waiting and listening to the other teams all ringing their very best. We knew this was going to be a close competition almost instantly, therefore the nerves were slowly rising... however this did not stop team Sussex from smiling and containing their excitement.

Time passed and the chimes of St James struck half past three, meaning this was the time for Sussex to shine. After applauding Team Bedfordshire for their exceptional ringing, we gave our final hugs to our team leaders and our Sussex supporters and made our way one by one up the spiral staircase.

We then approached 8 bright red ropes waiting for us to grab hold. The pressure was at its peak as we all took our places to practice, some members were even shaking and almost letting their nerves get to them, but they managed to pull it together and represent the county with praise. We rang some very stable rounds and perfected queens which boosted the teams confidence levels, giving us more and more hope. Then the time came, useful advice was exchanged and good lucks were called, this was now or never as Team Sussex pulled off for their test piece.

One by one, each change was called and made slickly and smoothly, which made Queens and Whittingtons a delight to listen to. As conductor, I strictly told the team to maintain the rhythm and oddly decided to tell them to communicate with their bells... who knows what was going through my head?! Eventually Rounds came and we stood to end a stable piece of ringing.

However at the time, we did not think this was the case. We all felt a little disappointed with ourselves and felt like we could have improved. I led the team down the stairs first, my smile had turned into a slight frown thinking we could have done better and we did have the potential... I entered into the sunlight, surrounded by cheers and applause which confused me... maybe the ringing wasn't as bad as we thought? In fact, Captain Anne and Captain Sandra were beaming with joy so we must of done them proud. Our thoughts were turned as one by one, different ringers came up to us and congratulated us on our exceptional ringing, and this was when I knew we had done Sussex proud. We even got an interview with Simon Edwards on the RWNYS live feed!

Josh (southern district ringer) writes on the results at Bow.

Shhh, don't tell anyone... I rang the treble for Sussex in my third national youth contest. When we had finished our test piece in the final at Garlickhythe, the team thought we didn't do well and we had lost it. I disagreed (silently). Listening to the whole change from the front is a different perspective, and after all your harshest critic is yourself (especially when you make the odd mistake!), I had a feeling we had it in the bag. The ringing was the best I had done with the team in about four years of ringing with the Sussex Young Ringers. Something felt like this might be our year...

The results, moved to Bow at last minute, were packed! The teams were called in and we sat in rows. The judges gave their verdicts on the qualifier ringing and medals were given out to each team. Then they moved onto the final. The judge's feedback here was critical but full of praise. They identified some common errors within all the teams, which was very interesting to hear. Finally they announced the results. 4th, 3rd...2nd: Oxford! So 1st is Sussex! We had done it, after years of coming 2nd and 3rd we had finally reached the trophy. We received our medals and lifted the Whitechapel Trophy into the air. It was a good, feeling to say the least.

Team Sussex with the Whitechapel Trophy and Anne and Sandra.

A very proud Anne Franklin (SCACR Young Ringers officer) holding the trophy after years of waiting.

NEWSFLASH! Sussex Young Ringers to star in Blue Peter!

Sussex Young Ringers will feature on the BBC's Blue Peter programme on Thursday 20th September (17.30, CBBC channel). Filming took place during the Ringing World National Youth Contest in July, which the Sussex team won. Presenter Lindsey Russell was also filmed having a "learn the ropes" session the week before, with the SCACR and KCACR youth striking competition teams. The programme may contain a few surprises...!

The programme airs a few times in the week and is available for replay for a month afterwards. If the date changes for any reason we will be informed in advance and will let you know. Do encourage everyone you know to watch it! This is great publicity for ringing, and we hope it will inspire new young (and old!) ringers.

The Lilliputters Guild of Ringers visit the Southern District

The Lilliputters began in 2015 as a group of friends going on a week's ringing holiday, based at the Lilliput Sea Scout hut in Poole – hence the name! This quickly turned into something bigger, and two further Tours saw us pick up a number of new friends along the way, from Leicester to Kent, and, of course, Sussex!

After three years in Poole, it was time to move the Tour on, and Sussex were the lucky recipients this year, as we based ourselves at the Parkwood Scout Campsite in Poynings, near Hurstpierpoint. This venue proved ideal both in terms of comfort and location, situated in fabulous countryside.

Ringling at Aldrington

During our eight day visit, we visited some thirty three towers, driven by Captain Michael, Pilot of the Roads, in a flashy minibus! We only had one day outside of Sussex (when we dared to head inside the M25 boundary to ring at Croydon!). Highlights of the week included the daytrip into Brighton, resplendent in our rainbow polo shirts, the superb bells of Petworth and Burgess Hill, and the novel (but nonetheless fabulous!) ring of three bells at Storrington!

Our local members – Josh, William, Harry – must take credit for their help in planning and running the Tour, and for the marvellous way they represented Sussex. A huge thank you goes to all the towers and local ringers that hosted us and made us feel so welcome during the week.

We look forward to a return Tour next year, and plans are being made already – watch this space!
